(c) An advertising campaign for the Filmcity Awards was organized. The Filmcity Best Movies Award Distribution Event used all media vehicles like print, electronic, online and much more. The key sponsors were cosmetic manufacturing companies like Ponds, Loreal, Revlon, Gamier and Lakme.

The advertising appeals used for this event were rational and sensory. Choice of the venue of the award ceremony shifted from various cosmopolitan cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Bangalore to Goa this time. The advertising message was catchy with logo and punchline. For example, "21st December night has something special to offer for viewers – do not miss this opportunity." The various media vehicles carried the illustration or photograph of some celebrity figure who would anchor the event.

The anchors of the event were film stars from film world like Rajesh and Mehar. An audience poll was conducted to assess the views of audience about the best movie, best actor, best actress and best supporting stars. It was found that the pre-event, actual event and post-event advertisement drew attention of people from all walks of life. The nomination for the best movies, film stars was done before hand. The timing, date and venue were advertised through all media vehicles, like radio, television, internet, banners, hoarding and posters at prime locations. Media planning was done much ahead of time. The Gross Rating Point (GRP) which measures the reach frequency and impact of an advertisement was high for Filmcity ceremony 'Bonanza.'

The post-event coverage included various headlines of most newspapers, magazines and supplements. Advertising results were assessed from the sale of tickets for this event. Bonanza was so popular that fans gate crashed and fanfare became unmanageable. Police force had to be deployed to keep the fans and media at a distance from the place where the event was organized. Audience looks forward to many more Filmcity events like 'Bonanza' in future. (CO5, CO6)
